1-) How did the sinful group respond to the signs that point to Allah's oneness when they entered worldly life with moral responsibility?

They met those signs with disbelief and refusal.

2-) Why is that view presented as too low for a human being?

Because human beings were given special senses, feelings, and abilities for higher spiritual purposes.

3-) What was their response to the blessings they received?

They answered with ingratitude.

4-) What mistaken idea about life is challenged in the passage?

The idea that life is only for comfort, civilization, and pleasing physical desires.

5-) What is another purpose of the faculties in relation to Allah's names?

They help a person experience the different ways Allah's names appear in the world.

6-) Why does the passage mention subtle senses and orderly body systems?

To show that human beings are carefully made for important purposes, not just appetite.

7-) What happens to a person who fulfills these two main aims?

The person grows, becomes complete, and reaches true human character.

8-) What is the link between belief and the world around us in this passage?

The world contains signs that can lead a person to belief if they are noticed properly.

9-) What two actions are expected from a person after learning these two aims?

To be aware of Allah's gifts and to respond with thanks, worship, and belief.

The group made up of sinners and wicked people.

2-) What did they deny that made their crime especially serious?

They denied the manifestations of the divine names.

3-) Why is denying the manifestations of the divine names such a heavy offense?

Because those manifestations are spread through life and the world, so denying them means rejecting many signs of Allah.

4-) Why does the passage say they deserve endless punishment?

Because they rejected the manifestations of the divine names and committed a huge offense with the gifts they had been given.

5-) What is the first of the two main aims of these God-given abilities?

To make Allah's blessings known to a person so that the person gives thanks and worships.

6-) What is another duty after becoming aware of Allah's blessings?

To worship Him.

7-) What does the passage say about the finer human senses and feelings?

They are delicate and meaningful gifts, not tools made only for low desires.

8-) What kind of human being results from using these faculties correctly?

A mature and genuine human being.

9-) What cause-and-effect lesson is taught about human faculties?

If they are used rightly, they lead to gratitude and belief; if misused, they lead to serious wrongdoing.
