

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 1

1-) What main idea is introduced by the Qur'anic verse in this passage? (20 kelime)

It presents the idea that

2-) According to the passage, what does a person become by giving his person and property to Allah? (6 kelime)

He

3-) How is this exchange described in terms of benefit and status? (14 kelime)

It is described

4-) What does the reader need to do in order to understand this exchange more clearly? (10 kelime)

The reader

5-) Which two things are said to be given to Allah in this passage? (5 kelime)

A

6-) What reward is promised for this exchange? (1 kelime)

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 2

1-) In this passage, who is making the purchase? (7 kelime)

Allah

2-) From whom is this purchase made? (6 kelime)

It

3-) What is being "sold" in this passage? (10 kelime)

A believer's

4-) What does the passage suggest about the value of this spiritual "sale"? (7 kelime)

It

5-) Besides being profitable, what kind of position does this act give a person? (7 kelime)

It

6-) What two roles are connected to the one who gives himself to Allah? (9 kelime)

He is

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 3

1-) What does the verse say believers receive in return for giving themselves and their property to Allah? (3 kelime)

2-) How does the passage describe the act of belonging to Allah? (9 kelime)
It describes

3-) What feeling about this act is the reader encouraged to have? (12 kelime)
The reader is

4-) Why is the word “trade” a meaningful way to describe this relationship? (16 kelime)
Because it shows an

5-) What kind of explanation is about to come after this introduction? (8 kelime)
A parable

6-) What kind of appeal is being made to the reader at the end of the passage? (14 kelime)
The reader is

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 4

1-) What promise is attached to the believers' giving of themselves and their property? (8 kelime)

The promise

2-) What image of commitment is created by calling a person Allah's soldier? (10 kelime)

It suggests

3-) What image of humility is created by calling a person Allah's slave or servant? (9 kelime)

It suggests

4-) What does the passage imply about the worth of serving Allah? (12 kelime)

It implies that

5-) Why might a comparison be helpful for understanding this idea? (12 kelime)

It can make

6-) What method of explanation is promised after the introduction? (4 kelime)

A

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 5

1-) What does the passage say Allah has taken from the believers in this figurative purchase? (5 kelime)

Their

2-) What is offered back to the believers? (5 kelime)

Paradise

3-) How is the believer's relationship to Allah described after this exchange? (12 kelime)

The believer is

4-) What two words are used to show the value of this path? (7 kelime)

It

5-) What does the passage want the reader to understand before hearing the comparison? (15 kelime)

It wants the

6-) Why does the passage call this exchange a trade? (14 kelime)

Because it shows

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 6

1-) According to the passage, what should someone understand about giving himself and his property to Allah? (10 kelime)

He should

2-) What reward makes this exchange so great? (4 kelime)

The

3-) What honorable identity comes from this dedication to Allah? (7 kelime)

A

4-) What does the passage suggest about worldly possessions by describing them as something that can be given to Allah? (19 kelime)

It suggests they are

5-) What is the function of the verse at the beginning of the passage? (10 kelime)

It introduces

6-) What teaching method does the passage say will be used next? (11 kelime)

It says

CEVAP ANAHTARI

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 1 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What main idea is introduced by the Qur'anic verse in this passage?

It presents the idea that believers give themselves and what they own to Allah, and in return they receive Paradise.

2-) According to the passage, what does a person become by giving his person and property to Allah? He becomes Allah's servant and soldier.

3-) How is this exchange described in terms of benefit and status?

It is described as very rewarding and as giving a person a noble position.

4-) What does the reader need to do in order to understand this exchange more clearly?

The reader needs to listen to the comparison that follows.

5-) Which two things are said to be given to Allah in this passage?

A person's self and possessions.

6-) What reward is promised for this exchange?

Paradise.

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 2 - CEVAPLAR

1-) In this passage, who is making the purchase?

Allah is the One making the purchase.

2-) From whom is this purchase made?

It is made from the believers.

3-) What is being “sold” in this passage?

A believer’s self and wealth are being offered to Allah.

4-) What does the passage suggest about the value of this spiritual “sale”?

It suggests that it brings great benefit.

5-) Besides being profitable, what kind of position does this act give a person?

It gives a person an honorable rank.

6-) What two roles are connected to the one who gives himself to Allah?

He is described as Allah’s servant and His soldier.

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 3 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What does the verse say believers receive in return for giving themselves and their property to Allah?

They receive Paradise.

2-) How does the passage describe the act of belonging to Allah?

It describes it as being His servant and soldier.

3-) What feeling about this act is the reader encouraged to have?

The reader is encouraged to see it as something valuable and honorable.

4-) Why is the word "trade" a meaningful way to describe this relationship?

Because it shows an exchange in which what is given is rewarded with something much greater.

5-) What kind of explanation is about to come after this introduction?

A parable or comparison is about to come.

6-) What kind of appeal is being made to the reader at the end of the passage?

The reader is being invited to pay attention and reflect on the coming example.

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 4 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What promise is attached to the believers' giving of themselves and their property?

The promise is that Paradise will be theirs.

2-) What image of commitment is created by calling a person Allah's soldier?

It suggests loyalty, discipline, and readiness to serve Allah's cause.

3-) What image of humility is created by calling a person Allah's slave or servant?

It suggests complete belonging to Allah and obedient worship.

4-) What does the passage imply about the worth of serving Allah?

It implies that serving Allah is both deeply honorable and highly rewarding.

5-) Why might a comparison be helpful for understanding this idea?

It can make an abstract spiritual truth easier to picture and understand.

6-) What method of explanation is promised after the introduction?

A comparison is promised.

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 5 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What does the passage say Allah has taken from the believers in this figurative purchase?

Their selves and their belongings.

2-) What is offered back to the believers?

Paradise is offered to them.

3-) How is the believer's relationship to Allah described after this exchange?

The believer is described as belonging to Allah in service and obedience.

4-) What two words are used to show the value of this path?

It is shown as beneficial and honorable.

5-) What does the passage want the reader to understand before hearing the comparison?

It wants the reader to understand that dedicating oneself to Allah is a great gain.

6-) Why does the passage call this exchange a trade?

Because it shows giving something to Allah in return for a far greater reward.

11sinif short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 6 - CEVAPLAR

1-) According to the passage, what should someone understand about giving himself and his property to Allah?

He should understand that it is an extremely worthwhile exchange.

2-) What reward makes this exchange so great?

The reward is Paradise.

3-) What honorable identity comes from this dedication to Allah?

A person becomes Allah's servant and soldier.

4-) What does the passage suggest about worldly possessions by describing them as something that can be given to Allah?

It suggests they are not meant to be used only for selfish purposes but should be devoted to Allah.

5-) What is the function of the verse at the beginning of the passage?

It introduces the main teaching and supports it with revelation.

6-) What teaching method does the passage say will be used next?

It says a comparison will be used to explain the idea.