Cevap 4 A person should admit neediness to Allah, not show off poverty in front of people or act like a beggar for attention.	Cevap 3 A stronger appetite helps the guest enjoy the meal more, just as feeling one's need before Allah leads to turning to Him more.	Cevap 2 The world is described like a table full of gifts, and spring is pictured like a beautiful decoration spread over it.	Cevap 1 It is made up of thankfulness, being content, making dua, and trusting in Allah's mercy as the Provider.
Cevap 8 They should listen to it, take light from it, follow its guidance, and keep reciting it.	Cevap 7 They are told that if they can remove death, end decline, erase human weakness and poverty, and shut the grave, then they may speak; otherwise they should be silent.	Cevap 6 They are described as not very heavy or hard, but rather light and manageable.	Cevap 5 They come from obeying the Qur'an's commands and avoiding what it forbids.
Cevap 12 It shows beauty, freshness, and abundant gifts from Allah.	Cevap 11 A person is compared to a guest being hosted by a most generous giver.	Cevap 10 Gratitude, contentment, supplication, and trust in the mercy of Allah the Provider.	Cevap 9 It is presented as completely true, coming from the Truth, speaking truth, showing truth, and spreading wise guidance.

13 Why might wise people value awareness of need?	14 To whom should a person show his true poverty and need?	15 What limit is placed on science, philosophy, and art?	16 What mental ability is called on in order to understand this?
