

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 1

1-) According to the passage, what Qur'anic message is presented at the start of this section? (15 kelime)

Allah takes from

2-) What does the passage say a person should understand about giving oneself and one's property to Allah? (11 kelime)

It is

3-) Besides being profitable, what two roles are mentioned for the person who gives himself to Allah? (7 kelime)

He

4-) What teaching method does the passage announce in order to explain this idea? (10 kelime)

It says

5-) In this passage, what two things are described as being offered to Allah? (5 kelime)

One's

6-) What reward is tied to this offering in the verse cited here? (1 kelime)

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 2

1-) What is the main point of this short passage? (13 kelime)

Dedicating one's life

2-) How is the status of the person who does this described? (9 kelime)

It is

3-) What does the passage invite the reader to do if he wants to grasp this teaching? (7 kelime)

To

4-) Which group of people is mentioned in the verse as making this exchange? (2 kelime)

5-) What does the wording suggest about the relationship between the believer and Allah in this exchange? (15 kelime)

The believer willingly

6-) Why is the exchange described as profitable? (8 kelime)

Because what

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 3

1-) What does the verse in this passage say Allah receives from believers? (5 kelime)

Their

2-) What does Allah give in return, according to the verse? (1 kelime)

3-) How does the passage describe the spiritual position of the one who makes this exchange? (16 kelime)

As a servant of

4-) What feeling should a reader come away with about this exchange based on the passage's wording? (9 kelime)

That it

5-) Does the passage present this exchange as degrading or uplifting? Explain briefly. (12 kelime)

It presents it

6-) What literary device is promised to make the meaning easier to understand? (3 kelime)

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 4

1-) In simple terms, what “trade” is being discussed in this passage? (11 kelime)

Giving one’s

2-) What two positive qualities are attached to this trade before the comparison even begins? (7 kelime)

It

3-) What does the phrase about being Allah’s servant and soldier suggest about a believer’s life? (11 kelime)

It suggests

4-) What is the purpose of the comparison mentioned at the end of the passage? (12 kelime)

To help the

5-) What outcome is promised to believers in the verse quoted here? (4 kelime)

They

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 5

1-) What does the passage say about the value of surrendering oneself and one's property to Allah?
(6 kelime)

It

2-) How does the passage characterize the station of the person who does so? (8 kelime)
It describes

3-) According to the verse, what is the price or return for the believers' offering? (4 kelime)
The

4-) Why does the passage move from the verse to a comparison? (13 kelime)
To explain the

5-) What combined identity is given to the believer in this passage? (9 kelime)
A worshipful

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 6

1-) What promise from the Qur'an is placed at the center of this passage? (14 kelime)

That Allah grants

2-) What does the passage say a person will realize by understanding this promise? (14 kelime)

He will see

3-) What is the reader told to do in order to understand the point properly? (12 kelime)

To pay attention

4-) Is the exchange presented mainly as a burden or as a blessing? Give the best answer from the passage. (15 kelime)

It is presented

5-) What are the two sides of the exchange mentioned in the verse? (16 kelime)

On one side are

CEVAP ANAHTARI

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 1 - CEVAPLAR

1-) According to the passage, what Qur'anic message is presented at the start of this section?

Allah takes from the believers their lives and wealth, and in return they receive Paradise.

2-) What does the passage say a person should understand about giving oneself and one's property to Allah?

It is a highly beneficial exchange and a deeply honorable position.

3-) Besides being profitable, what two roles are mentioned for the person who gives himself to Allah?

He becomes Allah's servant and His soldier.

4-) What teaching method does the passage announce in order to explain this idea?

It says the idea will be explained through a comparison.

5-) In this passage, what two things are described as being offered to Allah?

One's self and one's possessions.

6-) What reward is tied to this offering in the verse cited here?

Paradise.

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 2 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What is the main point of this short passage?

Dedicating one's life and belongings to Allah is a gain, not a loss.

2-) How is the status of the person who does this described?

It is presented as noble and full of dignity.

3-) What does the passage invite the reader to do if he wants to grasp this teaching?

To listen to the comparison that follows.

4-) Which group of people is mentioned in the verse as making this exchange?

The believers.

5-) What does the wording suggest about the relationship between the believer and Allah in this exchange?

The believer willingly gives what he has to Allah and receives a far greater reward.

6-) Why is the exchange described as profitable?

Because what is given is exchanged for Paradise.

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 3 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What does the verse in this passage say Allah receives from believers?

Their persons and their property.

2-) What does Allah give in return, according to the verse?

Paradise.

3-) How does the passage describe the spiritual position of the one who makes this exchange?

As a servant of Allah and as one who stands in His service like a soldier.

4-) What feeling should a reader come away with about this exchange based on the passage's wording?

That it is a wise, rewarding, and honorable choice.

5-) Does the passage present this exchange as degrading or uplifting? Explain briefly.

It presents it as uplifting because it joins great benefit with honor.

6-) What literary device is promised to make the meaning easier to understand?

An illustrative comparison.

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 4 - CEVAPLAR

1-) In simple terms, what “trade” is being discussed in this passage?

Giving one’s life and wealth to Allah in exchange for Paradise.

2-) What two positive qualities are attached to this trade before the comparison even begins?

It is described as beneficial and honorable.

3-) What does the phrase about being Allah’s servant and soldier suggest about a believer’s life?

It suggests a life of obedience, loyalty, and service to Allah.

4-) What is the purpose of the comparison mentioned at the end of the passage?

To help the reader understand the value of this exchange more clearly.

5-) What outcome is promised to believers in the verse quoted here?

They are promised Paradise.

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 5 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What does the passage say about the value of surrendering oneself and one's property to Allah?

It says this is extremely rewarding.

2-) How does the passage characterize the station of the person who does so?

It describes that station as one of honor.

3-) According to the verse, what is the price or return for the believers' offering?

The return is Paradise.

4-) Why does the passage move from the verse to a comparison?

To explain the meaning in a way the reader can picture and understand.

5-) What combined identity is given to the believer in this passage?

A worshipful servant and a committed soldier of Allah.

lisans short-words-p15-sixth-word-selling-the-nafs-and-property-to-allah-the-kings-trust - Set 6 - CEVAPLAR

1-) What promise from the Qur'an is placed at the center of this passage?

That Allah grants Paradise to believers who give themselves and their wealth to Him.

2-) What does the passage say a person will realize by understanding this promise?

He will see that the exchange is both highly beneficial and full of honor.

3-) What is the reader told to do in order to understand the point properly?

To pay attention to the comparison that is about to be given.

4-) Is the exchange presented mainly as a burden or as a blessing? Give the best answer from the passage.

It is presented as a blessing because it brings honor and the reward of Paradise.

5-) What are the two sides of the exchange mentioned in the verse?

On one side are the believers' selves and possessions, and on the other side is Paradise.